Crowell's Team Played Great Ball. Virginia's Eyes Opened

Lorando, Gibson, Morris, Boarman, Kilgour, Vierra, Sommers, Gunning, Steenerson, Beard, Sutton, Lacarioni

"They're a grand old team, They're the lads with the steam."

Saturday afternoon, 'mid the inspiring strains of "The Grand Old Rag," as paraphrased by a Buff and Blue poet, Georgetown's conquerors, the Orange and Blue of old Virginia, lost the chance to be considered champions of this section, but must now share this honor with the Buff and Blue. It was a mighty struggle and a pretty contest between evenly matched teams, so much so that when the whistle sounded the end of the game scarcely one could be found on either team that was not willing to call it quits.

Flushed with the victory of last week, and confident of an easier one this time, the eleven from the Old Dominion ran against the worst kind of a surprise, and now they must confess that a new and dangerous rival for football honors is in the field, a fact that has been apparent to some for quite a while, but which others would not see. We do not mean to boast, but when an institution has defeated in baseball, tied in football, defeated in debating, defeated on the track the teams of one of the best institutions in its section, it can rightly be said to be an aspirant for first place.

Sutton started the game by kicking off to Randolph, but Sommers prophesied the great work of the whole team by downing him before he had gone a yard. On the next play G. W. was penalized 10 yards for rough play, and Johnson and Staniford made 2 and 5 through center. Randolph kicked to the 30-yard line, the ball being recovered by Sutton, who, after slipping on the wet turf, was downed by Maddux. Sommers and Lacarioni made 8 yards through the line and Steenerson punted. Lorando thought that Johnson had the ball and went into him, and Virginia was given the ball on the spot whence it had been punted. Neff went through one side of the line for 8 yards and Johnson through the other for 5. Woods went through tackle but the umpire claimed a foul and G. W. was penalized 10 yards. Virginia tried the forward pass but Gunning was too quick and got the ball. Beard made 15 on two runs, Sommers 3 and Steenerson 5 more on a delayed pass around right end. On the next play the ball went to Virginia on a fumble. Morris broke through and threw Johnson for a loss. Johnson punted to Sutton, who returned 5 yards. After an exchange of punts Johnson started up the field with the ball, but Beard, in a beautiful tackle, threw him after a gain of 10 yards. On a neatly executed forward pass Lorando made 15 yards, but after the next two downs Steenerson was forced to punt. Several punts followed in quick succession, in the last one Steenerson getting down under his own punt and nailing Johnson in his tracks. Here G. W. began to go through Virginia's line, Lacarioni made 6 and Sommers 7, Sutton following with 10. Beard added 3, Lacarioni 2, and Sutton, by one of the most sensational runs of the day, dodged through all Virginia's men for 20 yards, Steenerson by adding 3 more put the ball on Virginia's 23 yard line, where Sutton tried a drop kick, but the ball went up into the air and Johnson brought it back to the 20 yard line. The ball was punted to the middle of the field where it was when time was called soon after.

Johnson opened the second half by kicking to Beard, who ran the ball back 20 yards. After the addition of 7 yards by Sutton and Lacarioni, Steenerson punted. Morris brought down Johnson in a pretty tackle. After an interchange of punts a G. W. man fumbled, and Virginia recovered, but Lorando downed him before he got started. Neff made 5 and then tried the forward pass which failed, Lorando getting the ball. After 2 yards by Beard, Steenerson kicked to Randolph, who made a beautiful return of 25 yards. On the next play Virginia fumbled and the ball was recovered by Sommers on our 20 yard line. Steenerson and Johnson engaged in a punting battle, after which Virginia seemed to strike her stride and started up the field as if she was going for a touch-down. Johnson and Randolph made 10 each, and the ball was soon on our 15 yard line, but here G. W. held and Cook tried a goal but failed. Steenerson kicked to Johnson who returned 30 yards. Randolph, Honaker, and Neff added 11 more, putting the ball on our 30 yard line, where Cook made his second failure at a goal. After several punts time was called.

Notes of the Game.

First and foremost, the rooting. 'Twould have warmed the cockles of an icicle's heart to hear the way the boys supported us. None of your senseless blatant noise at the wrong time, but good concerted organized rooting, well led and plenty of it. And say that band didn't help some! Several of the players remarked after the game that when Virginia's fiercest onslaughts had burst upon them, and things began to look a little blue, the band struck up and everybody was immediately happy.

Fellows, look at the results of your spirit. Do you think the team would have played the game it did if you had sat like a lot of bumps on a log? Don't let yourselves be fooled on that score. It wasn't only the team's playing that held Virginia, it was their playing and your rooting. Let that permeate the recesses of your cerebellum. Now, there is one, possibly two games more. Keep it up.

Without a single exception the whole team played brilliant football. Were it not the province of these notes to remark on features, we would not undertake to discriminate between the work of the men. The motto from now on is "don't get over-confident." Don't throw away the chance of a lifetime by carelessness.

"Big Man" Sommers was everywhere. He's a tackle all right. You could walk some few days before finding another one as good. And for his weight, never.

Lorando and Gunning. As good a pair of ends as any team in this section can boast of. The way they nailed Johnson on his end runs was beautiful.

Steenie. Oh! but he did run the team nice. And it is probable that

Law Notes.

After seven ballots for president, in which three candidates ran too close for an election, Mr. Horace W. Davis was elected as president of the Junior Class for the ensuing year. All other elections were carried through on the first ballot, and all interest was centered in the presidency. The active candidates were Mr. Horace W. Davis, Mr. C. L. Allen and Mr. Stull. Other elections resulted as follows: Vice-president, Mr. Wm. K. West; Secretary, ———; Treasurer, Mr. Walter B. Guy; Executive Committee, Messrs. Binstead, Block, Campbell, Rutherford and Scantling; Class Editor, Mr. Holmes; Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. P. A. Rehr.

Among the stories told at the Junior Class smoker two at least are worthy of repetition. Last summer when Speaker "Joe" Cannon was touring the West, at one of the receptions in his honor, one of the speakers nominated him for the Presidency. The Speaker shaped his reply somewhat in this manner: "My friends, I want to thank you for the honor you have done me in nominating me for the position of President of the United States. The American people might go farther and do worse"—then there was a pause and he drolly added—"and what's more, they will, too."

The other story took place in Richmond, in the grand old Commonwealth of Virginia. It seems that a well-dressed gentleman stopped an old darkey on the street and said to him, "Uncle, can you change me 25?"

The darkey blinked, opened his eyes, and replied, "No, boss, I can't—but I thank yah fo' de compliment."

Whereas, it has come to our knowledge that upon our beloved and respected Dean, Professor W. R. Vance, a great grief has fallen in the loss of his father; and

Whereas, individually and collectively, the members of our class all feel the tenderest and deepest sympathy for him in his bereavement; and

Whereas, it is the sincere desire of each of us in the tenderest and most earnest way that we may to express to him our heartfelt sympathy; therefore, be it

Resolved,

I. That the George Washington University Law Class of 1907 hereby extends to their beloved Dean their most heartfelt sympathy and love in this sorrow that has visited him, and that his grief is also theirs;

II. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Professor Vance, a copy filed in the records of this class, and a copy given to the George Washington University HATCHET for publication.

Class President.

Personals.

Mr. I. S. Pepper, Law '05, has been located in Muscatine, Iowa, only a year, but he is already getting into things (at his old habits); in the recent election only two democrats were elected in his county, one of them being himself as county attorney. As soon as it was known that he was elected, the Young Men's Club went around and serenaded him. We were sure that he would make good and predict that this is only the beginning of a brilliant career.

Mr. W. H. Woodwell, Law '06, who won a lasting reputation as a debater during his three years here, has just recently located in Sapulpa, Okla. He says it is a fine country and everything goes without pushing. If there is anything going Woodwell is sure to be at the top, and we may look to see him here at the Capitol representing the new State ere long.

Mr. Dawson is another George Washington man who has just been honored. He was again elected to represent an Iowan district in Congress, this being his second time. While here Mr. Dawson was an active member of the University Congress.

(Tune of "Alma Mater O.")

We're gathered now, my fellows, to join this happy throng,
To pluck from Georgetown's glory
the victories she has won,
To cheer our fearless players by every yell and song,
And now's the time to do your best for old George Washington.

CHORUS.

Oh, Alma Mater O!
Oh, Alma Mater O!
But ere we start we'll give a yell for Alma Mater O!

Medical.

The George Washington University Medical Society held its seventh regular meeting in the medical building November 17th. Several valuable papers were read and the discussions following each were interesting.

Dr. A. B. Hooe reported a case of "Metastatic Empyema with recovery of Bacillus Colli Communis in pure culture." The discussion following the paper, by Drs. Carr and Lewis, centered largely upon the plan of treatment, incision and drainage.

A case of "Intermittant Hydro-nephrosis," by Dr. A. R. Shands, claimed the closest attention of the Society, and was followed by a discussion as to the best and safest methods of diagnosis, with many decided differences of opinion.

The final paper of the evening was the subject of "Choletithiosis" was read by Dr. D. W. Prentiss. Dr. Adams, of Georgetown University, gave an interesting talk on gall stones and modes of termination.

Dr. Shute referred to eye-strain as a cause of pseudo-appendicitis and probably pseudo-gall stones. Someone suggested that before long the general practitioner will have nothing to do but refer all cases to oculists or specialists.

Dr. Phillips is overjoyed at the outcome of Saturday's game. He has been a constant believer in G. W. U.'s work in that line and has fought for pure athletics all the way through.

Much of the encouragement so very necessary for good work has come from him.

Judging from the game of last Saturday it looks as if we might all join in a paean of victory on Thanksgiving day.

In discussing the relative number of calories used in performing certain functions Dr. Lindsay asked, "What constitutes a day's work?" and a Senior who is in the Government service, promptly answered: "Seven hours and a half, doctor."

There is a reason for Tastet's complacent looks, because a daughter has arrived at his home.

Most anybody could scare up a smile over a thing like that.

Mr. Frank J. Brown ('08) was confined to his home several days last week with a severe attack of pharyngitis. He was attended by Dr. Seibert.

The Junior Choral Class met last Friday evening with S. H. Pyne, musical director. Mr. Pyne is preparing to furnish some excellent vocal numbers for the class dance next Friday evening.

Mr. O. E. Patterson (Class '08) spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Fairfax Court House.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smith took Sunday dinner with A. J. Wheeler and wife at their apartments in the Cadiz. The boys spent the afternoon quizzing over third year's practice.

T. E. Griffith, Class '08, returned recently from a trip to Altoona, Pa., where he was visiting friends.

The Mass Meeting.

The call for a mass meeting Thursday night to plan for the Virginia was attended by a large crowd of enthusiastic students and professors. That the results justified the attempt was shown by the marked improvement in the cheering and the general spirit of the students at the game.

President Moore called the meeting to order and stated the purpose of the gathering, after which he called on Manager Wilson, who made a stirring speech urging all to come out and bring their neighbor. Coach Crowell, who is now looked upon as the cause of our rejoicing, made a talk that roused the spirits of every student in the hall and made him feel that Virginia could not possibly defeat the team that would go upon the field for George Washington. In his talk he revealed one of the secrets of his success with the team, his ability to inspire the men with the determination to win and a belief that they can not be beaten. Captain Steenerson said that he was not strong on talking, but that all who came to the game would see what the team could do. Mr. Houston, who has so generously assisted Crowell on the field, was called upon, and spoke encouraging words to the team. Professor Veditz, who has been following the work of the team closely and is a constant attendant at all games, surprised all who did not know him as a football enthusiast by his stirring talk, right to the point, that was vigorously applauded. Professor Phillips, always reliable and standing by the students in all phases of athletics, said he merely came to look on, but the students would not excuse him, but would have him speak. Messrs. Peake, Burrell and Gonzales were elected yell masters, and they drilled the crowd in the yells and some new songs. Mr. Wanner, who had patriotically taken upon himself the work of collecting money for a band, announced that the band would be at the University to lead the students to the field.

The Columbia basketball team will take a trip West about Christmas time. The definite schedule has not been yet arranged.

The Virginia Game.

To say that the skeptics and those who have not been keeping up with the team this year were surprised by the result of last Saturday's game, is putting it mildly; they were astonished. The demonstration of the students after the game showed that the revelation of the real strength of the team came with such suddenness as well as certainty as to take them off their feet. Of course, we rejoice that Virginia did not defeat us, but to those who have been following the steady growth of the team's strength, the result was not such a surprise. Coach Crowell, who knows what the team can do, asserted confidently the day before that we would not be defeated. Captain Steenerson gave convincing proof of his confidence in the outcome. Those who have been following the practice day after day asserted some days ago that some were going to be greatly surprised Saturday. The majority did not appreciate the fact that in Coach

Crowell we have one that in ability is second to none. He comes to us after long experience under the best of coaches and on one of the strongest teams of the East, which he captained last year and which, under his leadership, established the best record of its history. From the very first day that he took hold of things here, the men realized that they had an instructor of an entirely different order from any that had been on Van Ness field before. Every player has the utmost confidence in him, knowing that they are getting as good coaching as any other team, and that therefore they need not fear that they will be taken by surprise by some team that has had better coaching. They rely on Crowell to meet the opposing team on even terms. The results have justified this confidence for it has been a subject of remark that our team has been as well versed in the game as any team we have opposed.

Then, too, many did not know that the team was practically the same team that did the best work last year, the only new men on the team being Sutton and Lacarioni. And they are not now new men for Sutton has played in every game except the Gallaudet game, and Lacarioni in every one except Gallaudet and Lehigh. If one had stopped to consider that the team is made up of men that have been playing together nearly two full seasons, equal in weight with Virginia's, and coached by as good a coach (to put it politely) as theirs, the surprise would have been, not that we were not defeated but that we did not win.

Cheering.

The organized, systematic cheering at the game last Saturday under the leadership of Peake, Gonzales and Burrell was the best that the University has ever done. Encouragement was given to the team not only when it was going forward, but also when it was being pushed back, and no doubt gave increased determination to stop the rushes of the opposing team. Care was taken also to be quiet while Captain Steenerson was giving the signals. Let us hope that these leaders will keep this organization intact for the Thanksgiving game, when opposing cheering will be stronger than in Saturday's game.

Cornell has started its training table, and thirteen candidates have been picked. Secret practice will be started to-day and continued throughout the season. Spectators will be allowed on the field only Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

Cincinnati Trial Debate.

The Intercollegiate Debating Council last Wednesday evening decided that George Washington will uphold the negative side of the question submitted by Cincinnati for the debate to take place on March 1st between these two institutions. The question reads: Resolved, That it should be the policy of the United States government ultimately to annex Cuba.

The first trials were held last Saturday evening before Professors Mitchell Carroll and Edward Thurston and Mr. J. A. Finch, J.L. M., a prominent alumnus of the University. There were twenty-eight competitors, twenty-one from the Law School and seven from the College. Of this number, fourteen were selected to participate in the second trials on December 8th. The successful ones, of whom seven upheld the negative and seven the affirmative, are as follows:

Agnew, Law '07; Morris, Law '07; Kennedy, Law '07; Patterson, Law '07; Ross, Law '07; Hindman, Law '08; Levin, Law '08; Riddleberger, Law '08; C. L. Allen, Law '08; Dallwig, Law '09; Gates, College '08; Van Vleck, College '08; Berry, College '10; Schreiber, College '10. These men will speak again on December 8th, and seven or eight will be chosen, in all probability, to participate in the final trial contest from which the three members of the team and the alternate will be selected.

Columbian College.

The Junior dance will be held at Carroll Hall, Wednesday, December 19. The following is the committee in charge: Messrs. MacInturff, Gates and Daniels and Misses Moyer and Mahon.

The Enosinian Society is congratulating itself on the success of the members in the trials for the Cincinnati debate. Four of its five representatives passed the first preliminary.

The second meeting of the French Club was held Tuesday, November 13, in Room 1. Professor Henning gave a short talk in French on French history. Papers were read by Misses Barbour and McCleary. Mr. Gates recited a French poem.

Some of us are beginning to wonder what has happened to the Freshman - Sophomore football game.

The Y. M. C. A. Club is planning a strenuous campaign. Look out for it.

Graduate Studies.

All Graduate members have started work on their theses which will decide whether or not they will receive their degrees next June. This work might seem very difficult at present, but after each member realizes the pleasure that original research affords, he will say that he enjoys every moment spent unravelling the deep problems of natural science.

These theses are written on different subjects. Some are scientific, some classical. No matter to which class they may belong, the amount of work involved in their solutions can only be estimated by the students who will make satisfactory solutions of the problems assigned to them. It is our desire to make our theses this year excel as far as possible all those which have been written by our past Graduate students.

Faculty.

Dr. Charles E. Munroe, Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, made a very neat reply to the American Chemical Society one evening very lately when he was called on to give his views about the laws governing the preparation of Denatured Alcohol. Dr. Munroe advocates the use of large amounts of methyl alcohol in place of coal tar products as denaturants. Dr. Munroe says: "It seems a pity to see one great industry destroyed for another of a similar character.

I have erected in this country one of the largest rectifying plants for the purification of methyl alcohol. There is not any necessity to limit the amount of denaturant to two per cent of methyl alcohol and if this is done, it will not pay us to continue our great industry."

Dr. C. W. A. Veditz, of this University, delivered an address last Friday afternoon to the students of the Western High School on the value and significance of debating. The membership of the Debating Society of the School has subsequently been nearly doubled.

Architecture.

The Department of Architecture has started on what promises to be a most successful year.

In addition to the regular work an Atelier has been formed for the purpose of taking the problems offered by the Beaux Arts Society. Professor Remey has been chosen Patron and a large number of students have started on the first problem.

A criticism of the first regular problem of the year was given by Professor Ash, on Monday, November 5. In Class A, Mr. Langille was given first mention; Mr. Koetz, second; and Mr. Sullivan, third. In Class B, Mr. Geare was given first mention and Mr. Dysland, second.

At a business meeting of the Architectural Club, on Monday evening, November 5, the following officers were elected:

F. P. Sullivan, President; J. A. Lockie, Vice-President; H. N. McAuley, Secretary; G. R. Berryman, Treasurer; E. E. Bachschmid, S. P. Wagner, C. R. Lombard, Executive Committee.

At a meeting of the Architectural Club, on Monday, November 12, the following students were elected to membership:

Marion Thatcher, Walter Holmes, Reginald Geare, George S. Childs, Louis Greenberg, G. F. Galloway, George N. Ray.

University Lectures for Local Bankers.

By a special arrangement between the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks and the Department of Politics and Diplomacy of the University, thirty-five lectures or lessons in Economics will be given to the members of the Institute by Professor C. W. A. Veditz. The course has already been begun and over one hundred bankers are now taking it. Throughout the course, particular emphasis is laid upon the practical aspects of economics and upon those departments of the subject in which bankers are naturally most interested.

The Maiden.

When a maiden smiles on one,
 One should wonder what he's done
 To deserve such condescension,
 Such inspiring attention.
 And more often than we think
 Else we'd more have tak'n to drink,
 She is laughing at some blunder
 That would make us mad as thunder.

For the maiden is a creature
 That we'll never understand
 Till we gather with the preacher
 In that happy better land.

JACK TERRIER.

Practice for the annual November intercollegiate cross-country race is under way in the colleges composing the association, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The choice of a course having been settled at the annual meeting recently in New York, the colleges have fixed up courses to resemble that in order to be prepared for the race. Maps of the course have been prepared and sent out to the colleges of the association, following the suggestion of Cornell. The Ithaca runners, who have been the winners in all except one of the intercollegiate races since 1899, are not quite so well off for material as usual.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Mary Mannering in "Glorious Betsy."

Some time has elapsed since Mary Mannering has been in this city, and the admirers of this delightful actress will eagerly welcome the announcement of her coming to this city at the National Theater commencing Monday, November 26, in her latest and what has been described as her best play, a four-act romantic comedy called "Glorious Betsy," written by Rida Johnson Young.

"The Old Homestead."

The perennially popular play, "The Old Homestead," comes to the Columbia next week. It needs no introduction. It is one of the earliest and best of the rural dramas, and has entertained its thousands while less enduring plays have come, had their season and been forgotten. It is some years since it has been seen in Washington, and it should draw big houses.

Camille d'Arville in "The Belle of London Town."

Camille d'Arville, who is returning to the legitimate stage this season, under the Shubert banner, will be seen at the Belasco next week in a new comedy set to music by Julian Edwards and Stanislaus Strange. Miss d'Arville's part is said to fit her admirably, and the costuming and scenic effects are guaranteed of the best. The comedy engaged to support Miss d'Arville has been selected with the greatest care, and includes such players as Carl Stahl, Robert E. Cavendish, Frank Farrington, Orville Harold, Hal Pearson, Arthur D. Wood.

Valerie Bergere and Vaudeville.

Thanksgiving week attractions at Chase's will include as their leading novelty Valerie Bergere & Co. in "A Bowery Camille." Cliff Gordon will be second in importance and the others will introduce O. Hana San & Co., in "The Geisha's Dream"; Sam Watson's "Farmyard Circus"; Kelly & Violette; Polk, Kollins and Carmen Sisters; Bertine and Brockway, and "Mother-in-Law" motion pictures.

Eugenie Blair in "A Woman in the Case."

The many friends and admirers of Eugenie Blair will no doubt be pleased to hear that she is coming to the Majestic, week of November 26, in Clyde Fitch's most remarkable play, "A Woman in the Case," a piece especially well suited to Miss Blair's exceptional ability.

"The Four Corners of the Earth."

For the week of November 26 (Thanksgiving week) the Academy offers its patrons a new and spectacular melodrama in "The Four Corners of the Earth," which, as the title implies, carries the spectator to all corners of the earth.

Dental.

It occurred one night last week while we were busy inoculating media with Bacilli Prodigiosus. We could not blame the young Sophomore medico for the mistake he made, when he asked a dental student in an awe-struck voice, if that distinguished looking gentleman with the dark "Van Dyke" beard wearing glasses and inoculating agar with the bacillus above mentioned was another of Professor Carroll's assistants. The Soph. seemed somewhat mystified when informed that the gentleman with the facial adornment described was Mr. Jackson of the Senior Dental Class.

We certainly expect to see the number of beards in the Senior class disappear when we commence to juggle with pathogenic organisms.

We are indebted to Mr. Pflug's dog for no small amount of amusement these evenings in the dental laboratory. We have so much interest in the dog, however, that we would suggest to the owner to keep a strict eye upon him, else some enthusiastic young medico may have a violent desire to see how the dog's pneumogastric nerve works under stimulus, which would be bad for the dog but worse for the class in that we would all feel compelled to wear mourning.

We are very busy in the Infirmary these days, and are glad to observe that a few of the Juniors are taking instruction in clinical work.

Gallantry among the students of the Senior Class is not lacking. We congratulate Mr. MacDonald upon his ability to relieve suffering humanity not only of toothache but of that condition brought about by chapped lips, especially when the patient happens to be a charming member of the feminine sex. Should it become known, however, that chapped lips are effectually cured in the Infirmary, we may later on be compelled to station some one at the door announcing the fact that such ailments are treated at the hospital and that only those requiring dental work can be admitted.

The Seniors and Juniors these days are asking one another "What has become of Bumpus?" He was very much in evidence at the beginning of the course and the boys are commencing to miss his strenuous ways. We trust that none of the upper classmen came to the conclusion that he was a Freshman and "mislaid" him somewhere. It might be appropriate to ask Pflug what he did with Bumpus.

Freshman Dental.

In the issue of the HATCHET of November 8th, the Freshman Dental Class was advised to organize; as a matter of fact, the class was organized a week previous to that date.

The following officers were elected:

W. Sloane Harrison, President; B. C. Marsh, First Vice-President; W. H. Barnhard, Second Vice-President; E. M. Bear, Secretary; Charles Hickman, Treasurer; M. Goldberg, Sergeant-at-Arms; C. R. Irby, Class Critic; C. Q. Cannon, Class Reporter.

A reward is offered to anyone finding President Harrison at a morning lecture.

(Q) When is a vulcanizer a steam engine?

(A) When "Doc" Hickman talks baseball and forgets to turn off the gas at 320.

M. Goldberg (still working on the same model): "Gee, I didn't know it was so much work for three dollars."

Columbian Debating Society.

Last Friday night the Columbian Debating Society held the most enthusiastic and interesting meeting of the year. Every member of the debating teams was present, and well prepared on the subject, consequently a brilliant and lively contest was had between the two teams. The subject was the annexation of Cuba, the Cincinnati debate question. The negative team, composed of Messrs. McClellan, Kartack and Henkel, won the debate; the affirmative was upheld by Messrs. Roche, Campbell and Hendry. Messrs. McClellan and Hendry were not eligible for honors by reason of being already on the list of honor men. First and second honors were given to Messrs. Roche and Kartack respectively. Mr. E. Carrington was elected to membership. At the next meeting the question of changing the night for meeting will be suggested. The Society is pleased to see that of the ten Law men who won places on the first Cincinnati debate preliminaries, eight are from its members.

Despite reports to the contrary, it is practically assured that Chicago and Michigan will meet in football next fall.

A series of mass meetings have been held at Yale this fall, at which the football songs and yells are practiced and rehearsed.

Notes of the Game.

one or two of the Orange and Blue men will feel his flying tackles for some little time.

Morris. Old Charley boy is up to his tricks again. That Orange and Blue Jersey of his helped some, too. And by Thanksgiving day he'll be in better training.

Poor Blue and Gray!

Beard. The hard-working boy, and how he did work. A beautiful defensive game and pretty interference for Sutton.

Lacarioni. Backed up the line when Johnson came through. You didn't notice any 70 yard runs in his direction, did you?

Sutton. A single failure to catch or recover a punt would have meant a score for Virginia. He stuck to the ball like flies on Tanglefoot.

Gibson not only scared them by his size and appearance, but by his playing. Notice him when he had the ball?

Kilgour and Vierra. The trusty henchmen who filled in at guard both played nice games. Their work was not of the showy variety, but very effective.

Boarman. It's been some time since Washington enthusiasts have seen a center nail the runner after a punt. Watch him.

As for Virginia, we need only mention Randolph and Johnson. It was the latter's great running back of punts that kept the ball in our territory in the second half.

And last, Georgetown!

Needham Debating Society.

Last Friday the Society elected the following officers for the first half of the present scholastic year:

President, J. T. Kennedy, '07; Vice-President, S. B. Stein, '08; Secretary, R. M. Jones, '08; Treasurer, K. Rutherford, '08; Sergeant-at-Arms, K. C. Crain, '07; Critics, John Jensen, '08; I. W. Phillips, '08; Representative Intercollegiate Debating Council, M. W. Patterson, '07; Executive Committee, W. R. Swank, '07; W. C. Carpenter, '09.

There was a lively contest for all the positions excepting that of President, the election of Mr. Kennedy being unanimous. One member was nominated to the office of Vice-President because he had won a medal for saving a man's life by shooting at him twice and missing both times, and another for the office of Sergeant-at-Arms because he was an athlete and held the record for the "standing broad smile." These and many other humorous hits made the evening a very enjoyable one.

Resolved, That the annexation of Cuba would be beneficial to the best interests of the United States, was selected as the question for the first public debate with the Columbia Society.

Next week the preliminary will be held for this debate and the new officers installed.

Mertz "Greater" Specials

Command the attention of men who know "value" and seek it

Last week we completed another deal that reverts to the benefit of our patrons. One of the biggest woolen dealers in Philadelphia, a dealer trading only in the higher class goods, closed out what was left of his fall weight woolens to us at far less than they cost him. He had filled his orders and wound up his season in one move.

The result is we're offering you right now the biggest tailoring values you've ever had the opportunity to pick up.

Suits on Overcoats to Order from this special purchase as low as $10.00 - Others at $12.50 and $15.00

The purchase was divided into three lots—and at these ridiculously low prices you get goods that are never quoted regularly under $25 and $30. Best tailoring is guaranteed. Our organization, our system and facilities assure good workmanship.
